DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 10-14 are objected to because of the following informalities: The preamble of claims 10-14 state "The coupling", similar to the preamble of claim 9, but claims 10-14 also depend from method claim 7. For examining purposes it was assumed that claims 10-14 were supposed to depend from claim 9. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

4. Regarding claim 14, the phrase "but not limited to" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "but not limited to"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 9 and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Seamark.

In regard to claim 9, Seamark discloses a coupling between opposed ends of coaxially aligned metal pipes 2, each of said metal pipes including an internal metal sleeve 11 having an outside diameter generally equal to an inside diameter of said pipes 2, a groove 15 rolled into an outside diameter of each of said pipes adjacent to but spaced from said opposed ends of said pipes, said grooves extending into said sleeves and locking said sleeves in said pipes, and a generally circular metal housing 16 having a U-shaped cross-section including leg portions 17 received within said grooves 15 retaining said pipes in coaxially aligned relation.

In regard to claim 11, wherein said sleeves 11 are formed of the same metal as said pipes.

In regard to claim 12, wherein said sleeves 11 have a thickness as necessary to achieve required strength of said pipes.

In regard to claim 13, wherein said sleeves 11 are press fit (product by process limitation given little patentable weight in an apparatus claim) into an open end of said pipes 2.

In regard to claim 14, wherein said pipes 2 and said sleeves 11 are formed of steel (but not limited to).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Seamark.

Seamark discloses grooves as described above, but not grooves that are rectangular in cross-section. However, it would have been obvious to make the grooves rectangular instead of semi-circular because a change in the shape of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Dailey, 357 F.2d 669, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1966).

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 1-8 are allowed.

Conclusion

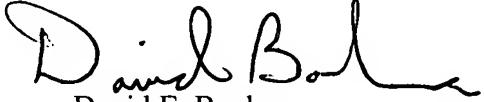

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ball Ward, Beyer, Costanzo, Wood et al., Campbell, Workman, Hendrickson, Takahashi et al. and Connell all disclose similar couplings common in the art.
